TO ANNOUNCE BONUS TONITE

Washington, Jan. 10 (INS)—The Treasury department this afternoon issued an official statement estimating the total amount of tax exempt securities in the United States at $14,670,000,000.

Of this total $2,316,000,000 worth of securities are held in state or federal treasuries, leaving $12,309,000,000 in circulation.

States, counties and cities issued $9,536,000,000 of these securities ;the federal government $1,154,000,000 and federal land banks $1,123,000,000.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The Mellon plan of tax reduction has met such formidable opposition in both Senate and House that Republican leaders were privately conceding today it cannot be passed in its present form.

Congress will reduce taxes. That much is assured by all factions.

And the program laid down by Secretary Mellon will afford the basis of reduction. But the coalition between Democrats and LaFollette insurgents, now a matter of record, has virtually assured the defeat of many of the Mellon rates. Republican leaders are not acknowledging defeat publicly, as that would be "bad strategy", but in the privacy of

"ON TO VERA CRUZ" IS BATTLE CRY OF 10,000 FEDERALS

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Mexico City, Jan. 10—More than 10,000 federal troops under Gen. Eugenio Martines began their "on to Vera Cruz" march today. San Marcos, in the state of Texacala, is being used as the federal base of operations

Federal airplanes preceded the advance, dropping bombs upon the rebel positions.

According to advices received by War Secretary Serrano the rebels did not give battle but retired before the federal advance.

Serrano said the advance against the rebels on the Jalisco front would be undertaken immediately. Upwards of 15,000 federal soldiers, under personal command of Gen. Obregon, will take part in the movement on the western front.

Five hundred automobile trucks have been sent to the western front to assist in the movement.

The American-built bombing airplanes are being sent to the front to precede the federal infantry. War Department officials believe that the battle will open at La Barca, southeast of Guadalajara in the state of Jalisco.

Miss Margaret Cox has returned to Temple University, Philadelphia, after spending the holidays with her parents here.

MIMIC WARFARE ON HIGH SEAS SENDS A U-BOAT TO BOTTOM

Portsmouth, Eng., Jan. 10 (INS)—The British submarine L-24 was lost at sea this afternoon while the submarine flotilla was making a mimic attack against the British grand fleet.

"We do not know exactly just what happened except that the L-24 is lost," Captain W. H. Smith of this port told International News Service.

"Salvagers were sweeping the water for the lost craft. The L-24 had additional men on board for training but I do not know how many there were in all.

"Something happened during mimic attack and we have not yet been able to get the details."

NOTORIOUS AXE MURDERERS OF ALABAMA AGAIN ELUDE CAPTURE

By B. V. STURDIVANT

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 10.—With a posse of deputies scouring the woods of central Alabama for there ever elusive suspects, officers today were continuing at a hot pace in their three year search for Birmingham's notorious cave murderers, who in that length of time have hacked to death more than a score of men and women.

The trio heavily armed and prepared to fight to the finish before submitting to capture, again has slipped through a net work of officers about thirty miles north of Montgomery, according to Birmingham official. The posse however was said to be close on their trail and District Attorney Jim Davis predicted their capture within the next few hours.

One of the negroes whose identity the District Attorney refused to reveal, was said to be the "mastermind" behind the attacks which have left Birmingham under a cloud of terror for the past year. The other two were branded as members of his murder gang

Black Hand Battle In Ohio Mine Results In Fatal Skull Fracture

Steubenville, O., Jan. 10 (INS)—A terrific hand-to-hand battle which raged in an extreme back level of a mine in Brooke county, West Virginia, near here early today culminated in Chris Haller receiving a fractured skull. He is dying. William Winters, negro, is held.

The battle raged for several hours, Winters told police. Angry words followed a controversy over a mine car and the men battled by themselves. There were no witnesses. The fight only terminated when Winters struck Haller on the head with a lump of coal, rendering him unconscious, he told police. Both men were dripping with blood.

Haller was found several hours later by mine attaches and Winters was arrested at his home.

TRANSPORTATION ACT CERTAIN TO UNDERGO RADICAL CHANGES UNDER CHAIRMANSHIP OF SMITH AND NEW FORMED COALITION OF FACTIONS

By WILLLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 10.—Announcement of an energetic campaign to revise and repeal some sections of the transportation act came swiftly on the heels today of the election of a Democrat, Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina, to the Chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee in a Republican-controlled Congress.

Smith's election by a coalition of Democrats and Republican Insurgents apparently has made certain a railroad fight of far reaching proportions in the turbulent Sixty-eighth Congress. The Democrats are opposed to the Esch-Cummins bill as a matter of party policy.

And the Lafollette insurgents are rabid against it thus placing the law's enemies in the majority in both Houses.

A Look In the Future

Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, who is acting more and more as the spokesman for the insurgent group, gave an outline of what the Insurgents hope to accomplish through coalition with the Democrats.

"We have made a good start," said Brookhart. "More will follow to startle the old guard leadership. There will be fewer party ties in this Senate from now on than ever before in history. We voted for Smith for the same reason we voted for LaFollette and Couzens, namely, to re-

The Insurgent-Progressive drive to amend the Esch-Cummins act was formally launched this afternoon when Senator Robert M. Lafollette introduced a bill in the Senate providing sweeping changes in railroad rates.

LaFollette's bill would completely reorganize existing methods of fixing railroad rates by arranging a schedule on the "basis of cost of service."

N. Y. C. TO BE TOLD CLEARFIELD WANTS SHOPS RE-BUILT

A Joint Committee from Two Clubs Appointed To Make Representations to N. Y. C. People.

SHOW ADVANTAGE

The weekly meeting of the Clearfield Rotary Club held at Hotel Jordan last evening was attended by all but three of the 53 members of the club, while 12 guests, including the Hon. A. R. Chase, who accompanied his predecessor the Hon. Singleton Bell, were also present.

President Albert Stewart presided, directing the business of the meeting along the proper lines very dexterously.

After the club business of the evening had been attended to the president introduced H. D. Healey, of the Clearfield Dairy Company, who has been making some inquiries into the question of a possible rebuilding of the recently burned New York Central car shops. Mr. Healey told the Rotarians what it would mean to Clearfield if the shops were not rebuilt, stating that even though the day of the wooden car was past and it did not look like good business to rebuild a woodworking shop, he thought from his investigation and size-up of the ground there was ample room to place a steel car repair shop on the site of the burned building. Mr. Healey asked that the Rotary Club take up the matter and lend their aid to a movement about to be launched looking to requesting the N. Y. C. people to consider the replacing of the destroyed shops. He was promised that assistance.

Judge Bell was asked to address the assemblage "from the floor," now that he is just "one of the common herd," and responded happily, saying he was glad to get once more on the plane where he could tell the fellow he didn't like just what he thought of him, the extent of those thoughts being gauged only by a proper regard for his own personal safety. He then introduced his successor, the Hon. A. R. Chase, paying the latter a pretty compliment in doing so. Judge Chase responded in a manner which earned for him the hearty applause of the diners.

Other guests present were: Rotarians M. H. Hartafeld, Sam S. Provin and Oliver T. Korb, of DuBois;

Charges And Counter Charges Fly In Marion, Illinois, "Dry" Fight

Marion, Ills., Jan. 10. (INS.)—Adjutant General Carlos Black expected to return to Springfield today, but without ordering the return of the troops summoned here by threat of factional trouble growing out of wholesale dry raids. He declared that troops would not be withdrawn. Sheriff Gallihan, whose appeal to Governor Small brought the three companies of national guardsmen to Marion, in a formal statement charged that back of the raids, in which Ku Klux Klan members stated they gave full co-operation, would be found contempt for rights of citizens and actual crimes.

Sheriff Galligan caused a sensation when he issued warrants late yesterday for S. Glenn Young and ten other dry leaders. The warrants charged assault and robbery. Young, who holds a special deputy's warrant, said the arrests were designed to stop the raids but would not have this effect.

A federal investigation of alleged dry violations in Williamson county was talked of today, as the result of charges by both factions. It was held that only a thorough probe would clear the status of the case.

UGLY CHARGES OF DUTY NEGLECT ARE MADE ON MEEKER

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 10. (INS.)—James C. Cronin, a member of the State Industrial Board, today charged Royal S. Meeker, head of the Department of Labor and Industry, with being responsible for the increase in industrial accidents in Pennsylvania because of alleged incompetency and "the application of his theory that accidents can be prevented by figures."

Cronin charged Meeker with failing to call meetings of the Industrial Board in accord with the present law, and blamed that in part for "the present unheard of number of accidents which have increased with alarming rapidity."

The board has not met for nine months, Cronin said, and his explanation of that condition was that "the board and myself in particular were not in sympathy with the revolutionary theories expounded by Meeker at the last meeting nine months ago."

MAGISTRATE CARNEY LIBERATES THOSE TAKEN IN RAIDS

Fur Begins to Fly In Big Handfuls As Militant Director Rubs Political Leaders Wrong Way.

KEEPS RIGHT AT IT

By JACK CARBERRY

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—Brig. Gen. Smedley Butler's much-heralded "war on vice and crime" in Philadelphia crashed head on into its first political opposition today.

Magistrate Edward P. Carney, political "buddy" of Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick, Gen. Butler's sponsor opened jail doors for the first of those arrested by Gen. Butler's raiders.

"If this clean up is on the square let Butler go and batter down the doors of Philadelphia's exclusive els of the poor," Carney said from the cellars of the rich. instead of the hovels o fthe poor," Carney said from the bench. Carney shattered all political ties, and was reported to have thrown the "machine" into wildest panic when he predicted "Gen. Butler himself will be a prisoner before the bar unless he is careful."

Carney then dismissed eight prisoners who had been arrested on charges of possessing liquor.

"The law of this state says it is a crime to have liquor for sale. There has been no proof of sale in these cases. If the law is wrong that isn't up to Gen Butler. All he has to do is to obey the law himself."

Carney's attack came almost at the "zero hour"—3:30 o'clock—at which time Gen. Butler had ordered that "the city be absolutely clean."

Gen. Butler refused comment. "I've got work to do and not politics to play," he said. He announced he had sharpened the official axe and that at the appointed hour he would "bust" six or more police lieutenants who, he charged, had lied to him.

These officers reported to Gen. Butler that their vice district were cleaned up.

"No district in Philadelphia has been cleaned up. I don't expect the men to do the impossible," Butler said. "All I have asked is that police try—keep raiding. I am satisfied with the lieutenants and police who have tried, even though their districts are not lily pure.

"I will appoint a number of new lieutenants of police today and give them 48 hours to do the work allotted.

"If they fail I will remove them, appointing others.

"Philadelphia will have a 48-hour vice and crime drive every two weeks."

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY HEARS REPORT OF MOST SUCCESSFUL FAIR; VOTE MR. CALLAHAN, MANAGER, THEIR THANKS, DISCUSS FARM PROGRAM FOR NEW YEAR

County Agent Sterrett Tells the Assemblage That Action On Tubercular Cattle In County Is Now Imperative.

MANY TOPICS DISCUSSED

The annual meeting of the Clearfield County Agricultural Society held in the arbitration room of the Court House yesterday was attended by quite a number of the leading farmers of the county, together with local business men and others interested in the success of the society.

The meeting was called to order by President Harrison Straw, of Goshen, at 10:30 o'clock. He reported on the activities of the society for the past year, after which reports were made in turn by Secretary Chas. Callahan, manager of the Fair; Treasurer James A. McPherson, of Lawrence, and Peter Gearhart, of Lawrence, chairman of the executive committee. The report of the treasurer showed a healthy state of finances.

At the conclusion of the reports President Straw appointed Messrs. W. P. Trostle, W. C. Sterrett, of Clearfield, and G. B. Wachob, of Luthersburg, a committee on resolutions and adjournment was then taken for dinner.

The Afternoon Session.

Promptly at 1:30 in the afternoon President Straw again called the meeting to order and announced that the first business of the afternoon session was the election of officers. This was immediately taken up and the following officers were chosen to guide the Agricultural Society during the coming year:

President—Harrison Straw, of Goshen.

Vice President—John C Forsyth, of Clearfield.

Secretary and Fair Manager.—Charles Callahan, of Clearfield

Treasurer—James A. McPherson, of Lawrence.

Executive Committee (two to elect) —Curtis Reed, of Lawrence, and W. E. Davis, of Clearfield.

Member Fair Committee—G B Wachob, of Brady.

The Fair Committee is made up of five members, one of which represents the County Agricultural Society, and one each from Pomona Grange, the Business Men's, Bankers' and Mercantile Associations of Clearfield.

Peter Gearhart moved that the Executive Committee be directed to invest from $3,000 to $5,000 of the surplus funds in the society treasury in Park bonds or other good securities. This was amended by John Forsyth to read "all the funds available" County Farm Agent Sterrett seconded the motion which was unanimously adopted and the funds will likely be invested in Government certificates which are more liquid and easier con-

CLEVELAND SCHOOL GIRL DISAPPEARS ON WAY TO SCHOOL AT TITUSVILLE, PA.

Police of Oil City Are Trying to Trace Car In Which Woman Assisted Carried Unwilling Girl.

ONLY 15 YEARS OLD

Pittsburgh, Jan. 10 (INS)—Police here today were preparing to institute a state wide search for Wilma Owen, 15, of Cleveland, believed to have been kidnapped while on her way to Titusville, Pa., where she is a student in St. Joseph's Academy. Police traced the girl to the East Liberty station here where she was to have taken a train to Titusville but there the trail ended. She did not arrive at her destination.

Clue at Oil City

Oil City, Pa., Jan. 10. (INS.)—Police here today were attempting to trace the automobile from which an unidentified girl called for help as it stopped momentarily in Rouseville, a suburb, yesterday, in the belief that it may lead to a solution of the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Wilma Owen, of Cleveland, while on her way from her home to St. Joseph's academy, Titusville, Pa., where she was a student, and possibly that of Marie Domabrea, of 7 Foundry street, Pittsburh and Mrs. Violet Clark, of 607 Lowell street, Pittsburgh.

The Cleveland girl was due in Titusville Monday, but nothing has been heard from her since her family received a telegram purporting to have come from her and saying she had taken the wrong train from the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania railroad which she was to have changed.

The mystery automobile, which bore a 1922 Pennsylvania license, stopped in Rouseville while its driver read some road sign posts. While it was stopped, a girl, who with two men, was a passenger, suddenly leaned over the side and cried out to Mrs. Clarence Lepley, who was standing nearby:

"Oh, lady. Please get someone to take me from this car."

She had hardly finished speaking when the driver grabbed the girl and pulled her back into the machine while the other man, attempted to gag her with his hand. While the struggle was going on the machine break rooms and conference rooms it is conceded.

Concealed Mellon

Must Be Compromise

As a result of the developments during the week that Congress has been back from the holidays, the consensus of opinion among Republicans, Democrats and Insurgents today was that as finally adopted the tax reduction will represent a compromise between the Mellon plan and the Democratic plan—particularly with respect to the Surtaxes on large incomes.

Secretary Mellon proposed these Surtaxes be reduced from 50 per cent to 25 per cent. The Democrats proposed 44 per cent. The LaFollette insurgents want 65 per cent. As matters stood today it appeared probable to both Democratic and Republican leaders that a compromise between 25 per cent and 44 per cent is the most likely solution and the suggested figure is 40 per cent.

While the Republicans are in nominal control of the situation actually the Democrats are more powerful than the Republicans for the reason that the Democratic plan of heavy reductions on small incomes and only slight reduction on the so-called "millionaire incomes" more nearly coincides with what the Insurgents want. The Democratic plan has been shrewdly drawn with just that object in mind.

How confident the Democrats and Insurgents are of their power may be gauged from the fact that they are now privately discussing the possibilities of passing a tax reduction measure over a possible veto from President Coolidge.

President Coolidge's "unalterable opposition" to tinkering with the Mellon rates, announced at the White House, carried with it the inference he might veto a tax bill that strayed too far from the principles laid down by the Secretary of the Treasury. It is this inference that has resulted in the present talk between Democrats and insurgents of the possibilities of jamming through a tax measure over a possible veto.

Should such a situation arise, it would admittedly create political chaos. The political effect of a Republican President running for reelection vetoing a tax reduction measure for which the whole nation yearns might be fantastic. It is a juicy morsel for the Democrats to chew over in contemplation.

Bonus Crowding

Meanwhile the war in the House as to whether taxation or a soldier's bonus shall have the right of way continued unceasingly today.

A show down will come tonight in a Republican conference when the proposition will be voted upon. Administration leaders are confident they have enough votes to defeat the bonus advocates, but their claims are not conceded by the bonus lieutenants.

Non-partisan observers, however, believe the administration forces will be successful and instruct the Ways and Means Committee to go ahead with the tax legislation.

The bonus advocates admittedly have lost ground during the week Congress has been back on the job. When Congress adjourned for the holidays, even administration leaders admitted there was little possibility of side tracking the bonus. Today, however, it appeared the bonus will be delayed.

Bonus leaders attribute their lost ground to the veritable deluge of letters and telegrams, which have been descending upon Congress for a month demanding quick action on tax reduction.

Most of these letters have been from Chamber of Commerce, Bankers Associations, manufacturers organizations, real estate boards, and other societies indentified with business interests and so great has been their numbers that they have made a distinct impression upon all members of the House, who come up for re-election in November.

"It was not a partisan question to us, but one of railroad policy. Senator Smith stands with us on that policy. We tried for five weeks to reach a compromise with the old guard leadership but they refused even to discuss the question with us.

When they persisted in refusing to call a party conference we gave our support to a progressive Democrat to end the deadlock and start victory for Progressives."

Smith Has Experience

Senator Smith, who was the first member of the Senate minority ever to be elected chairman of a Major committee, announced this morning he would issue a statement of policy later.

"I want the country to know," he said, "That this honor was confered on me wholly without my seeking. I have been chairman of this committee before but that was when the Democrats were in the majority. I am ready, however, to shoulder the task again."

By unanimous vote this afternoon, the Senate reaffirmed Cummins' committee. The question has been raised by Senator Dill, Democrat, of Washington, that his defeat for the chairmanship removed him from the committee. Both Republican and Democratic leaders, however, agreed Cummins retain the membership and the Senate formally acquiesced.

Butler Raids And Rayes

ler, Philadelphia's new director of public safety, marshalled his forces for a final drive in his war on vice and crime.

"Have Philadelphia cleaned up by 3:30 o'clock this afternoon or hand me your resignation," he informed each police district lieutenant over the telephone.

General Butler estimated 80 per cent of the vice, which he declared "ran rampant in every section of the city," had been driven to cover.

To "get" the remaining twenty per cent, he planned:

1. To stage daily raids on known saloons.
2. Arrest all police characters on sight, daily if necessary.
3. "Bust" every lieutenant, captain and sergeant in whose police district he discovers the "lid ajar."

Gen. Butler today estimated between 5,000 and 6,000 men and women, all law violators, and the majority of them known violators of the law, had left the city during the past 48 hours.

"I know I can't make Philadelphia absolutely clean — reformers have tried to do that before," Gen. Butler declared. "But I can make the city a place fit to live in Right now it Stinks to high heaven."

Yesterday's Record

Police reports submitted to Gen. Butler today revealed that all criminals had not fled the city.

Yesterday, the marine-policeman's first day of real action was marked by thirty robberies, three holdups, and an attempt made to loot a government liquor warehouse. The robbers secured more than $5,000.

The majority of the robberies were staged while Gen. Butler visited outlying police stations last night, and while his raiding squads hunted for speakeasies and gambling games.

Robert and Miss Lily Leavy attended the funeral of Frank Davis, of Altoona, which was held at Ebensburg, Pa., today.

Recently the Mr. George was asked by an interviewer: "What is your favorite amusement?" The novelist replied: "Loafing about a great city between midnight and dawn." His reason he gave as follows: "At night it is the unexpected happens. The few people about you intrigue you in bed; others it may be for some unusual cause: love, purpose of crime, agents of the Intelligence, or black poverty. Lonely under the stars, these people, for company, they willingly confide in you; and every outlet you in their confidence." Then Mr. H. L. George has attended exhibitions of sights in London, Paris, Barcelona, New York, Chicago, etc. He has participated in several exciting adventures, which he relates here, altering the names and details for the sake of his strange companions of the night. These of these adventures actually happened to him. George: three are slightly expanded. They make up the picture of darkness and passion which silently behind the face of every great city, and represents a hidden world into which the daring can penetrate.

THE SHOT IN THE NIGHT

I

I DO not, as a rule, seek nocturnal adventure in the suburbs. There is about the suburbs something too well established, too respectable, for me to be able to hope to come across easily upon those torrid mysteries which entangle human beings so readily in the coils of avarice or love. Then, when one fine September night I was slowly walking back toward London from Woolwich I felt the flags stood on plastered jars, in each of which grew a massive bush of chrysanthemums. I could not perceive details, but I guessed that the lawns were well-kept; the distance between the house and its two neighbors showed that it stood in extensive grounds. Here again, I thought, as I leant over the low wall which separated the garden from the street, here again wealth, and a life where nothing happens.

At that moment, as I leaned at one

ONCE AGAIN I FELT AN IMPULSE TO FLIGHT

disheartened and disappointed. In Industrial Woolwich I had encountered only two men too drunk to find their way home, and made most unpleasant by that fact. Otherwise, the whole town so deserted that I felt lonely, and instead of waiting for the first workmen's train, made toward Shooter's Hill. It was about half-past five, and as summer time had been duly put away with, it was still dark. There was a hint of thunder in the air. Thus, as I passed through the quiet streets, along their silent pavements, and cast a negligent eye at shuttered houses, I decided that among these [illegible] must be [illegible] one, in mysterious boy, a love-lorn girl, feeling disturbance, the painful electricity of the air. If only one could see through walls! I stood for a moment looking over the garden gate of a house where the front garden was filled with a plantation of flaunting dahlias that shone white in the darkness. No, nothing. Nothing there but wealth, of at least comfort and ease. In silence I went on. The street endlessly wound on its way. Garden after garden, comfortable houses, one after the other. At last, dispirited and very tired, I stopped for a moment to rest against the gatepost of a long, low house, built perhaps a hundred years ago. Its architecture interested me, for it had only one floor. It was one of those old country houses George III perhaps, which London has absorbed as it ate up the fields. The front was covered with white stucco, and tall French windows led into the garden, a portion of which was flagged. Upon of the French windows, I realized first that here burned a light. It was faint, because it had to struggle round thick curtains. Half-past five! Someone awake? Curious. Lights in the night always interest one; social life, love, sickness, death, all these call lights into the windows. I stared at it for a moment. Then, just as I was about to pass on, I started, leaping away from the wall and coming back; the sound of a revolver shot had impressed my ears. And though I had seen no flash, I knew with the absolute certainty of in the room where the light still faintly flowed.

I listened acutely for nearly a minute. Groans, the sound of a struggle, another shot, any of these would confirm what I had discovered. But there was nothing, nothing but silence. In the far distance I heard the horn of a motor-car, which sounded loud and near, so taut were my nerves. But nothing came, and still I stared at that window. What had happened there? Who there lay dead? The fact was such a shock to me that for a moment I proposed to find a policeman as quickly as I might. Then I felt ashamed: it is a poor adventure of the night draws the commonplace police into the extraordinary.

So, looking about me, and finding myself unobserved, I lifted the latch of the gate; tiptoed up the flagged walk, where my feet, trampling the gravel, seemed to make the noise of a machine gun. A broad lawn lay before the window; for a moment, standing at the side, I tried to see in between the curtains. But I could

The prodigy of a year of harvest turned loose on North Mountain near Boston, Pa., about three years ago have made an ever-lasting friend in a miller near Orangeville. The animals have kept the mill dam in repair after the owner had tried in vain to prevent it from leaking.

They are one of three colonies which have sprung from the original pair brought into the community by by the Board of Game Commissioners as a step to restock the state with our species of several which had been exterminated. The animals were imported from Canada, the first pair being taken into Potter county in 1916. Since others have been placed in Lycoming, Union, Centre, Mifflin, Perry, Dauphin, Carbon, Bucks and Westmoreland counties. It now is estimated there are more than twenty colonies scattered through these counties and in some instances they have moved fifteen miles distant from the mother colony.

It has been pointed out that in the mountain regions they have done much to conserve water through the building of dams. At the same time the animals have not proven destructive, according to the game authorities, who declare they confine their activities almost solely to the felling of aspen, birch and elder trees, rather than those of greater value.

Here is a real sermon on one hundred per cent optimism which should be ready by all those who are constantly "pitying" themselves by daily reciting their "many" ills and the "burdensome crosses" they are obliged to bear:—

Miss Kathryne Mae Frick, of Harrisburg, the ever-smiling and happy deaf and blind ward of the state at the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf, in Mount Airy, from which institution she will graduate before long, gave an exhibition recently of one of her many accomplishments after discoursing with her teacher on the subject of Christmas and early history of her life, by composing the following on her typewriter, the subject being "The Fairies of Sense":

"When I was a little girl, after I lost my sight and hearing, the Fairies of Sense came to me one day to give me a power that would take the place of my eyes and ears. They gave me the powerful senses of smell, taste and touch. The Fairy of Light placed me in a dark room and pierced all of my fingers deeply and both of my palms, so that my hands would take the place of my eyes. Thus I obtained the power to use my fingers and palms to receive messages instead of my eyes. The Fairy of Sound took me into a place of music and pierced my fingers deeply just as the Fairy of Light had done, and gave me the power of the sound of my ears. Next I was in an air-ship dancing in a realm of the skies of this great nation. The Fairy of Touch gathered a few twigs from branches of the Tree of Truth and put them in a basket of which to build them to be [illegible] longer, and then informed them [illegible]. Now my mind of touch is much richer than before. The Fairy of Smell fetched me with its fragrant fruit, dead and made by means of spell which remains. The Fairy of Taste gave me a strange golden apple containing the different kinds of taste that we knew and told me to eat it slowly. For this reason the Fairies of Sense made me happy, but before they disappeared they came together and told me that they had given me their powers to learn about God's beautiful world and about Him."

W. Harry Baker Charged With Operating His Car In A Reckless Manner

Philadelphia, Jan. 10. (INS.)—W. Harry Baker, chairman of the Republican state committee, was to be given a hearing today on a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested early today when his automobile crashed into a milk wagon. Baker was driving from his home in Harrisburg. A misunderstanding between the drivers of both vehicles is believed to have been responsible for the crash.

Ashland Cattle, driver of the milk wagon, sustained bruises, hundreds of milk bottles were broken and a wheel of the wagon knocked off.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to pitch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets assist the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF WOMEN'S CLUB HELD ON TUESDAY

The annual banquet of the Woman's Club was held in the dining room of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening, January 8. Covers were laid for 112 members and guests. The tables were beautifully decorated with baskets of pink and white carnations.

The following menu was prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid Society:

Fruit Cocktail
Olives Celery
Lettuce Heart and Mayonnaise
Roast Chicken with Filling
Mashed Potatoes Peas
Cranberry Jelly
Ice Cream Cakes Nuts
Coffee

Following the banquet the president, Mrs. Kurtz, gave a short talk on the growth of the club, the need of a club room and the principal work outlined for the coming year.

Mrs. Wright Bigler very ably read a most interesting story written by Dorothy Canfield entitled "What Goes Up." The story gives a vivid picture of what the French women endured during the war.

This was followed by a special entertainment given by the "Famous Country Cousins," delightfully humorous and entertaining and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Jimson Weed an Anesthetic.

Mince Pie for Yule in 1506.

Mince pies were popular at Christmas time as early as 1506 under the name of "mutton pies." Later "neat's-tongues" were substituted for the mutton.

KILL THAT COLD

FIGHT WINTER ILLS

Guard Against "Flu" or Pneumonia

I am near 60 years, but I feel as young as I did at 30. I take a cupfull of Bulgarian Tea once or twice a week. It keeps me healthy and strong and makes me feel young again," said H. H. Von Schlick, manufacturer of Bulgarian Herb Tea.

To break up a bad cold you must take a cupful hot at bedtime. Bad colds often turn into Influenza or Pneumonia and thousands die every year. This Bulgarian Tea will do for you what it has done and is doing today for millions of people. It will keep your system in perfect physical condition. Get a box from your druggist today.

BUILDING

The national building outlook for the year, according to builders in various cities, is good. The demand for homes, office buildings and other structures continues as great as ever, and it may be years before the "saturation point" is reached. No unusual boom is expected, but the country will probably absorb all the building materials and labor available, at prices somewhere around those of last year. There is ample money for financing, in most sections.

"Negotiations with the trades unions have started," reports a representative of the builders in a typical city, "and there was never a time when labor leaders showed more tendency to co-operation. There will be no serious tie-up, because labor doesn't want a fight any more than we do."

He adds, however: "Production remains our big problem. What shall it profit a contractor to hire all the labor in the world, if it fails to work?"

It is the view of builders generally that this is the big drag on the industry at present—workmen do not expect to do anywhere near as much work in a day as they used to, and as they could do without hardship, though they are better paid than ever before. This is the biggest factor in making building so costly. It keeps up rents and makes it harder for people generally—most of them workmen—to own their own homes.

A STIMULUS FOR PEACE TALK

Regardless of whether the peace plan which has won the Bok award wins also general public approval, it is serving an excellent purpose in focusing our attention again on the whole question of international peace, the Permanent Court of International Justice, the League of Nations and the attitude of the United States toward these things. There cannot be too much thought about these problems.

Everyone who has an opportunity ought to express his opinion about the particular peace plan in question. A genuine national referendum will result if newspaper ballots are used promptly.

Edward Bok's proposal of a reward for the best peace plan presented was laughed at a little at first and then, except for the many individuals who sent in plans, people forgot about it or became apathetic toward it. Now the fact that one plan has won its author the $100,000 award again centers interest in the matter. A wide-spread expression of opinion on the subject should be informing and useful.

Will Have More Stock Exhibits.

After commenting at some length on the report of the fair, President Straw said there was just one place where last year's fair was lacking and that was in the matter of stock exhibits, which were away below the standard of preceding years, due to the fact that so many Clearfield county farmers did not care to go to the expense or trouble to bring their stock to the fair. He said the fair was intended primarily to give Clearfield county farmers opportunity to display their stock in competition with their neighbors for the purpose of stimulating cattle raisers to improve their herds, but as they did not seem to want to take full advantage of the situation he believed it would be well to rescind the rule and let the bars down to cattle from other counties of the state. He further said that exhibitors from many adjoining counties were clamoring to get their stock on exhibition at the fair and they should be given an opportunity to do so.

The question was then discussed by Peter Gearhart, T. L. Wall, G. B. Wachob and John Forsyth. Mr. Forsyth then moved that the bars be let down and stock raisers from other counties of the state be privileged to exhibit at Clearfield county fairs hereafter. The motion was seconded by Peter Gearhart and unanimously adopted.

Mr. Forsyth also moved that a committee of three be appointed to work with the Park Association in the erection of a dock for loading and unloading stock at the fair grounds, the cost to the society not to exceed $75. This was seconded by Peter Gearhart and unanimously agreed to.

Must Guard Against Tuberculosis.

At this point the committee on resolutions presented the following report:—

WHEREAS the Farm Bureau of Clearfield County has requested the State Bureau of Animal Industry to make a survey and test for tubercular cattle,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Agricultural Society of Clearfield County heartily endorse the action of the Farm Bureau of Clearfield County and request the State Bureau of Animal Industry of the State of Pennsylvania to co-operate with said Farm Bureau of Clearfield County.

RESOLVED FURTHER, that the Commissioners of Clearfield County be requested to go along with this movement in so far as they can to assist in financing the same in connection with other persons who have volunteered financial aid.

RESOLVED that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Board of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the State of Pennsylvania and a copy also be sent to the Commissioners of the County of Clearfield, Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS, the manager and committee of the County Fair during the past year handled the proposition in an entirely satisfactory, efficient and profitable manner,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Agricultural Society at their annual meeting assembled hereby tender a vote of thanks to Mr. Callahan and the said committee, and a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes.

W. P. TROSTLE,
W. C. STERRETT,
G. B. WACHOB.

County Farm Agent Urges Action.

County Farm Agent Sterrett was then given the floor and he called attention to the new idea of the Indiana County Agricultural Society in offering fair premiums for "ton litter" pigs and thought it might be a good thing for the Clearfield fair to adopt the idea.

Mr. Sterrett then took up the matter of the urgent need for Clearfield county farmers to get behind the movement to stamp out tuberculosis among the cattle and other live stock of the county. He said we were rapidly approaching the time when the tuberculin test will be required by law before any cattle could be sold and now was the time to get ready for that condition. He talked against the bringing of cattle into the county from New York state or the eastern section of Pennsylvania, where tuberculosis is much more prevalent than in the western part of the state. He said a survey shows that but about five per cent of the cattle in the western counties are affected by tuberculosis, whereas in the eastern section the disease prevails to the extent of from 25 to 50 per cent. Therefore it was to the great advantage of herd owners to keep the western half of the state clean. Mr. Sterrett stated both the federal and state governments would assist in this work, but that the present plan was inadequate and more effective measures should be provided and that at once. To this end the executive committee of the Farm Bureau had already expressed their willingness to go ahead with a movement designed to clean up the county. The plan they hope to operate under requires that before the county clean-up will be undertaken by the state department at Harrisburg, 90 per cent of the herd owners of the county must sign up for the test of their cattle. A herd owner is any man living outside of a town or city who owns one or more head of cattle. There are at present 12,500 head of cattle in the county, of which 464 react to the t. b. test.

The need for prompt action, Mr. Sterrett said, was due to the fact that the federal and state governments had provided a total of $31,000 for reimbursement to stock owners for cattle found to be suffering from tuberculosis and ordered killed. But just as soon as this fund was exhausted, and three counties had already signed up for the test, there would be nothing left to pay for cattle destroyed, though all affected would have to be destroyed.

In making the test under the plan now in vogue in the state, a force of 25 veterinarians is employed. Their salaries of $2,500 for time spent in testing Clearfield county cattle would also be paid by the state, while an additional $825 for disinfectant, $210 for tags and $200 for stationery, office, administration, etc., would also be required, and this sum it is expected would be appropriated under the law by the County Commissioners, leaving the burden of getting herd owners signed up and transportation of the veterinarians to the different sections up to the cattle owners themselves.

Mr. Sterrett spoke of the great advantages to be gained from a tuberculosis free herd, which could be estimated in dollars and cents at from $10 to $15 per animal, with the inestimable asset of increased health in families of farmers and milk users generally.

At the conclusion of the remarks of the County Farm Agent, G. B. Wachob, of Brady township, one of Clearfield county's most successful herd owners and stock raisers, expressed himself as heartily favoring Mr. Sterrett's plan as enunciated saying he heartily favored the idea of digging right in now when there was a chance to get paid for any cattle destroyed, when a little later, and when it had to be done by the law's direction, there would be no funds available and therefore no reimbursemen for cattle taken and destroyed by the state's agents.

Mr. Forsyth then moved that the Clearfield County Agricultural Society pledge its support and hearty co-operation to County Farm Agent Sterrett in putting on the tuberculin test in Clearfield county and urge that herd owners proceed at once to sign up in order that the test may be made very shortly and before the reimbursement fund should be exhausted. The motion was seconded by Curtis Read of Lawrence township, and unanimously passed.

The business of the meeting having been finished, adjournment was had.

From January 1, 1923, to January 8, 1924.

The following Report is respectfully submitted:

Number of cases in which I was consulted and in which no legal action was taken	289
Desertion and non-support cases in which warrants were issued:	28
Desertion and non-support cases settled without warrants	2
Non P. & S. cases	32
Unusually immoral cases	3
Guardianship appointments received	2
U. S Government allotment cases	2
Voluntary payments being made in desertion and non-support cases, without proceedings	4
Total number of cases	349

Of the twenty-six desertion and non-support cases, I had previous knowledge of but three of them and but fourteen were heard, the remaining twelve being settled by me after the warrant had been issued.

The small number of warrants of which I had previous knowledge is largely due to the counselling in my office and throughout the county.

It is well worth the time to look thru the text books shown at the exhibit of the International Correspondent Schools in the Powell Building on Second Street. More money has been invested in these text books than in any other text book ever published.

To teach successfully by mail, requires a different kind of text book from that used in class room work. Books that require a teacher to explain and elaborate them are of little value to those who study alone. I. C. S. text books begin at the beginning and proceed by easy stages. They take nothing for granted but the ability to read English. They are written by practical men with years of experience in the various lines they teach and have been edited by trained correspondence experts familiar with the difficulties the student meets when studying alone. Over 100 colleges and technical schools use I. C. S. text books for reference and for classroom instruction. Over 1000 industrial establishments and railroads have used them for years for their training classes.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mr. and Mrs. William Twigg, Bloomington avenue, announce the marriage of their eldest daughter, Esther Wilson Twigg to Joseph F. Bartell, the ceremony being performed in Philadelphia on Wednesday, Jan. 9th. The young couple wil be at home in Curwensville on February 1st.

Pike township supervisors must contemplate a busy summer season in road making. We were informed yesterday that three motor trucks were to be purchased for the purpose of doing away with team work on the roads. The township has a tractor and now combined with the new motor conveyances, good work all over the township ought to be done at a considerable lower rate than heretofore when teams and wagons were pressed into service.

Borough Council had a new ordinance drawn up by which slot machines and all manner of gambling devices and games get a black eye, if the new law is strickly put in force, and there is no reason under the canopy of sky why it should not be. There are pretty nearly a dozen slot machines being operated in Curwensville today, to say nothing of candy boards etc. It is said that young boys, under the prohibitory age of even entering a pool room, are permitted to gamble on these machines. The new ordinance covers all of these games of chance devices, but many are skeptical as to its enforcement.

Mrs. Mary Deitrich, who was operated on last Saturday has so far recovered as to be able to be brought home at the last of the week.

Don't Cross Nature.

In all that we do we should avoid going contrary to nature. Every man should study his own character and constitute himself a keen judge of his own merits and demerits.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zilko, a girl baby, December 30th

Fred Boultin of Houtzdale was a caller in town Thursday.

Robert Templeton of Carnwath was a caller in town Friday evening.

George Clancy was a Madera caller on Monday.

Charles Bailey of Berwindale spent the week-end with his cousin, Miss Minnie Bailey.

John Koval moved his household goods from Almadeen to town on Friday evening.

Miss Annie Kost of Tyrone arrived home Saturday to spend her vacation.

Herbert James was a Beccaria caller on Friday.

Mrs. H. C. Bailey and daughter, Pearl, called on the former's mother, Mrs. Effie Dowling, at Carnwath on Saturday.

Mrs. Eva Katchin of Fernwood was a caller in town on Saturday.

N. H. Pezalski of Janesville was a caller in town Friday.

Mrs. Julia Zerwoski and children of Saxon spent the week-end in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carlins of Atlantic spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Alec Nesau.

Mr. and Mrs. Wasko Kost of Beulah spent Monday in town.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lloyd, a fine big baby. Barber is all smiles and is putting an extra gallon of gas in every automobile tank.

Alen Webb was so unfortunate as to slip on the ice and sprain his ankle on Sunday evening.

The people of town are in hope of getting a bus line between town and Madera and Houtzdale, which would make it very convenient for the public.

Renova Sending Cagers Here Saturday Night With A Reputation

Clearfield High basket ball followers will be given a real treat here Saturday evening when Renova High floormen will oppose the Red and Black five. Faculty Mgr., Mr. Hoover has arranged a preliminary at 7:30, so the main contest will not start until 9:00 o'clock, so as to give every one a chance to see this game.

Renova High were runners up for [illegible] title but were eliminated in the finals. They have the same combination again this year and intend winning the honor but realize that they will have to defeat Clearfield.

N. Y. C. TO BE TOLD CLEARFIELD WANTS

George E. Taylor, of Corning, N. Y.; Sam W. Claster, of Lock Haven, and Messrs. T. J. Arthurs, of Pittsburgh; Hon. Ben. F. Chase, U. S. Consul to Messina, Italy; T. F. Donovan, of Akron, Ohio; John Steinford, and Abe Shapiro, of Clearfield.

At the conclusion of the meeting Rotarian Taylor of Corning, offered the information that his chief, Supt. F. E. McCormick, of the Pennsylvania division, N. Y. C., expecting to spend the night in Clearfield, was in his private car at the local New York Central station, whereupon a committee composed of Messrs. A. M. Pearce, John Forsyth, Singleton Bell, Burgess Kittelberger, Louis Shapiro, and H. D. Healey went down to the car and interviewed Mr. McCormick on the question of the rebuilding of the N. Y. C. car shops. Mr. McCormick received the committee very graciously and said he was glad to be able to inform them that while there had been some "loose talk" regarding the future of car repairing in the local yards, he could assure them nothing definite had been determined thus far and whether no not the shops would be rebuilt or restored was a matter for the future and he would be glad to hear or entertain any proposition from the business men of Clearfield regarding the matter and would also be glad to pass it along to President Smith and the executive heads of the company with recommendation favorable to Clearfield. He stated that it would be well to get busy on the matter and the Civic Affairs Committee of both the Rotary and Commercial Clubs are already busy on the proposition and will make strenuous representations to the N. Y. C. people to have the shops rebuilt.

Care of Hides.

Only sound hides free from cuts on the flesh side, well taken off, of regular even pattern, properly salted and cured, can command a high price and make good leather. Greater care must be taken in summer than in winter in salting, curing and marketing hides, especially by the farmer or the country butcher who has only an occasional hide to cure. Partly decayed hides are practically useless.

3,000 Attend Organizing Session Of Association To Combat Ku Klux Klan

Monroe, La., Jan 10 (INS.)—The constitutional league of America, created for the avowed purpose of "combatting principles enunciated by the Ku Klux Klan and to teach the doctrine of Americanism as contained in the constitution of the United States," was organized here today by anti-Klan forces of Louisiana, and Arkansas. Other anti-Klan forces throughout the country later will be invited to join this body, officials stated.

The principal speaker of the bi-state convention was "igon" Jack Walton, deposed Governor of Oklahoma. Approximately 3,000 men attended the convention.

Her Busy Day.

The Supervisor—"Why did you give that party the busy signal? There was no one on the line." The Operator—"I was busy—doing my nails."

NERVOUS, RUN-DOWN MOTHERS

Worn Out Caring for Children and Housework—See how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps

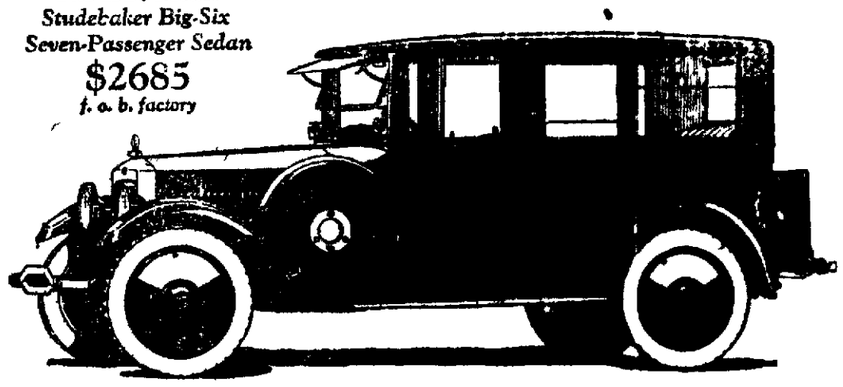
Indianapolis, Indiana.—"I was in a very nervous and run-down condition while nursing my baby, and hearing some talk of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began taking it. From the second bottle I noticed a big improvement, and I am still taking it. I am not a bit nervous now, and feel like a different person. It is a great medicine for any one in a nervous, run-down condition and I would be glad to give any one advice about taking it. I think there is no better medicine and give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. ANNA SMITH, 541 W. Norwood Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

The important thing about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is that it does help women suffering from the ailments common to their sex.

If you are nervous and run-down and have pains in your lower parts and in your back, remember that the Vegetable Compound has relieved other women having the same symptoms. For sale by druggists everywhere.

INTEGRITY — Studebaker — SERVICE

The 1924 Model
Studebaker Big-Six
Seven-Passenger Sedan
$2685
f. o. b. factory



Into the Studebaker Big-Six closed cars have gone, without compromise or stint, the finest design, materials, workmanship and the best of Studebaker's 72 years' experience.

Nothing has been left undone to make them as fine enclosed cars as can be built.

Certainly no car performs more brilliantly or is more reliable. None possesses greater beauty or is more luxuriously comfortable. None is more enjoyable to drive or easier to steer—and none is more completely equipped.

To pay more is extravagance. To pay less means a sacrifice of service and comfort.

Here are Some Happy Hints for Chapped Hand and Face

The season of chapped hands and faces is HERE. Little Jack simply will not dry his hands thoroughly after you have made him scrub them; Mother wants the baby. Larger Sue is out of doors in all weathers and needs something to help those wind-bitten cheeks. Brother goes out on the windy days and finds her face getting rough.

But here are some things which will help you to avoid the conditions and if the conditions exist, will materially help to overcome them.

Secessionist Leader And Aides Assassinated In Assault On Restaurant

Speyer, Germany, Jan. 10. (INS.)—The separatist government in the Rhineland palatinate today proclaimed a state of siege following an outbreak of shooting in a restaurant when four persons, including Heinz Orbis, leader of the secessionists, were killed, three other persons were wounded.

The assailants, all masked, drove up to the restaurant in an automobile. They entered and began firing in the direction of the table where Orbis was dining.

The men fired as fast as they could manipulate their weapons and soon men were falling to the floor, some dead, others only injured.

Immediately after the outbreak, the separatist regime began arresting prominent persons, holding them as hostages.

The French foreign office announced two days ago that several Germans had been arrested by French occupational troops in the Rhineland and confessed belonging to a secret ant separatists society in the Rhineland palatinate.

The Inter-Allied Council of Ambsadors was asked to investigate the activities of this society.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

TO ANNOUNCE BONUS TONITE

Washington, Jan. 10 (INS)—The Treasury department this afternoon issued an official statement estimating the total amount of tax exempt securities in the United States at $14,670,000,000.

Of this total $2,316,000,000 worth of securities are held in state or federal treasuries, leaving $12,309,000,000 in circulation.

States, counties and cities issued $9,536,000,000 of these securities ;the federal government $1,154,000,000 and federal land banks $1,123,000,000.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The Mellon plan of tax reduction has met such formidable opposition in both Senate and House that Republican leaders were privately conceding today it cannot be passed in its present form.

Congress will reduce taxes. That much is assured by all factions.

And the program laid down by Secretary Mellon will afford the basis of reduction. But the coalition between Democrats and LaFollette insurgents, now a matter of record, has virtually assured the defeat of many of the Mellon rates. Republican leaders are not acknowledging defeat publicly, as that would be "bad strategy", but in the privacy of

"ON TO VERA CRUZ" IS BATTLE CRY OF 10,000 FEDERALS

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Mexico City, Jan. 10—More than 10,000 federal troops under Gen. Eugenio Martines began their "on to Vera Cruz" march today. San Marcos, in the state of Texacala, is being used as the federal base of operations

Federal airplanes preceded the advance, dropping bombs upon the rebel positions.

According to advices received by War Secretary Serrano the rebels did not give battle but retired before the federal advance.

Serrano said the advance against the rebels on the Jalisco front would be undertaken immediately. Upwards of 15,000 federal soldiers, under personal command of Gen. Obregon, will take part in the movement on the western front.

Five hundred automobile trucks have been sent to the western front to assist in the movement.

The American-built bombing airplanes are being sent to the front to precede the federal infantry. War Department officials believe that the battle will open at La Barca, southeast of Guadalajara in the state of Jalisco.

Miss Margaret Cox has returned to Temple University, Philadelphia, after spending the holidays with her parents here.

Mrs. W. J. Leavy, of Cherry street, is visiting relatives in Philadelphia at present.

MIMIC WARFARE ON HIGH SEAS SENDS A U-BOAT TO BOTTOM

Portsmouth, Eng., Jan. 10 (INS)—The British submarine L-24 was lost at sea this afternoon while the submarine flotilla was making a mimic attack against the British grand fleet.

"We do not know exactly just what happened except that the L-24 is lost," Captain W. H. Smith of this port told International News Service.

"Salvagers were sweeping the water for the lost craft. The L-24 had additional men on board for training but I do not know how many there were in all.

"Something happened during mimic attack and we have not yet been able to get the details."

NOTORIOUS AXE MURDERERS OF ALABAMA AGAIN ELUDE CAPTURE

By B. V. STURDIVANT

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 10.—With a posse of deputies scouring the woods of central Alabama for there ever elusive suspects, officers today were continuing at a hot pace in their three year search for Birmingham's notorious cave murderers, who in that length of time have hacked to death more than a score of men and women.

The trio heavily armed and prepared to fight to the finish before submitting to capture, again has slipped through a net work of officers about thirty miles north of Montgomery, according to Birmingham official. The posse however was said to be close on their trail and District Attorney Jim Davis predicted their capture within the next few hours.

One of the negroes whose identity the District Attorney refused to reveal, was said to be the "mastermind" behind the attacks which have left Birmingham under a cloud of terror for the past year. The other two were branded as members of his murder gang

Steubenville, O., Jan. 10 (INS)—A terrific hand-to-hand battle which raged in an extreme back level of a mine in Brooke county, West Virginia, near here early today culminated in Chris Haller receiving a fractured skull. He is dying. William Winters, negro, is held.

The battle raged for several hours, Winters told police. Angry words followed a controversy over a mine car and the men battled by themselves. There were no witnesses. The fight only terminated when Winters struck Haller on the head with a lump of coal, rendering him unconscious, he told police. Both men were dripping with blood.

Haller was found several hours later by mine attaches and Winters was arrested at his home.

TRANSPORTATION ACT CERTAIN TO UNDERGO RADICAL CHANGES UNDER CHAIRMANSHIP OF SMITH AND NEW FORMED COALITION OF FACTIONS

By WILLLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 10.—Announcement of an energetic campaign to revise and repeal some sections of the transportation act came swiftly on the heels today of the election of a Democrat, Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina, to the Chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee in a Republican-controlled Congress.

Smith's election by a coalition of Democrats and Republican Insurgents apparently has made certain a railroad fight of far reaching proportions in the turbulent Sixty-eighth Congress. The Democrats are opposed to the Esch-Cummins bill as a matter of party policy.

And the Lafollette insurgents are rabid against it thus placing the law's enemies in the majority in both Houses.

A Look In the Future

Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, who is acting more and more as the spokesman for the insurgent group, gave an outline of what the Insurgents hope to accomplish through coalition with the Democrats.

"We have made a good start," said Brookhart. "More will follow to startle the old guard leadership. There will be fewer party ties in this Senate from now on than ever before in history. We voted for Smith for the same reason we voted for LaFollette and Couzens, namely, to re-

The Insurgent-Progressive drive to amend the Esch-Cummins act was formally launched this afternoon when Senator Robert M. Lafollette introduced a bill in the Senate providing sweeping changes in railroad rates.

LaFollette's bill would completely reorganize existing methods of fixing railroad rates by arranging a schedule on the "basis of cost of service."

N. Y. C. TO BE TOLD CLEARFIELD WANTS SHOPS RE-BUILT

A Joint Committee from Two Clubs Appointed To Make Representations to N. Y. C. People.

SHOW ADVANTAGE

The weekly meeting of the Clearfield Rotary Club held at Hotel Jordan last evening was attended by all but three of the 53 members of the club, while 12 guests, including the Hon. A. R. Chase, who accompanied his predecessor the Hon. Singleton Bell, were also present.

President Albert Stewart presided, directing the business of the meeting along the proper lines very dexterously.

After the club business of the evening had been attended to the president introduced H. D. Healey, of the Clearfield Dairy Company, who has been making some inquiries into the question of a possible rebuilding of the recently burned New York Central car shops. Mr. Healey told the Rotarians what it would mean to Clearfield if the shops were not rebuilt, stating that even though the day of the wooden car was past and it did not look like good business to rebuild a woodworking shop, he thought from his investigation and size-up of the ground there was ample room to place a steel car repair shop on the site of the burned building. Mr. Healey asked that the Rotary Club take up the matter and lend their aid to a movement about to be launched looking to requesting the N. Y. C. people to consider the replacing of the destroyed shops. He was promised that assistance.

Judge Bell was asked to address the assemblage "from the floor," now that he is just "one of the common herd," and responded happily, saying he was glad to get once more on the plane where he could tell the fellow he didn't like just what he thought of him, the extent of those thoughts being gauged only by a proper regard for his own personal safety. He then introduced his successor, the Hon. A. R. Chase, paying the latter a pretty compliment in doing so. Judge Chase responded in a manner which earned for him the hearty applause of the diners.

Other guests present were: Rotarians M. H. Hartafeld, Sam S. Provin and Oliver T. Korb, of DuBois;

Charges And Counter Charges Fly In Marion, Illinois, "Dry" Fight

Marion, Ills., Jan. 10. (INS.)—Adjutant General Carlos Black expected to return to Springfield today, but without ordering the return of the troops summoned here by threat of factional trouble growing out of wholesale dry raids. He declared that troops would not be withdrawn. Sheriff Gallihan, whose appeal to Governor Small brought the three companies of national guardsmen to Marion, in a formal statement charged that back of the raids, in which Ku Klux Klan members stated they gave full co-operation, would be found contempt for rights of citizens and actual crimes.

Sheriff Galligan caused a sensation when he issued warrants late yesterday for S. Glenn Young and ten other dry leaders. The warrants charged assault and robbery. Young, who holds a special deputy's warrant, said the arrests were designed to stop the raids but would not have this effect.

A federal investigation of alleged dry violations in Williamson county was talked of today, as the result of charges by both factions. It was held that only a thorough probe would clear the status of the case.

UGLY CHARGES OF DUTY NEGLECT MADE ON MEEKER

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 10. (INS.)—James C. Cronin, a member of the State Industrial Board, today charged Royal S. Meeker, head of the Department of Labor and Industry, with being responsible for the increase in industrial accidents in Pennsylvania because of alleged incompetency and "the application of his theory that accidents can be prevented by figures."

Cronin charged Meeker with failing to call meetings of the Industrial Board in accord with the present law, and blamed that in part for "the present unheard of number of accidents which have increased with alarming rapidity."

The board has not met for nine months, Cronin said, and his explanation of that condition was that "the board and myself in particular were not in sympathy with the revolutionary theories expounded by Meeker at the last meeting nine months ago."

MAGISTRATE CARNEY LIBERATES THOSE TAKEN IN RAIDS

Fur Begins to Fly In Big Handfuls As Militant Director Rubs Political Leaders Wrong Way.

KEEPS RIGHT AT IT

By JACK CARBERRY

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—Brig. Gen. Smedley Butler's much-heralded "war on vice and crime" in Philadelphia crashed head on into its first political opposition today.

Magistrate Edward P. Carney, political "buddy" of Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick, Gen. Butler's sponsor opened jail doors for the first of those arrested by Gen. Butler's raiders.

"If this clean up is on the square let Butler go and batter down the doors of Philadelphia's exclusive els of the poor," Carney said from the cellars of the rich. instead of the hovels o fthe poor," Carney said from the bench. Carney shattered all political ties, and was reported to have thrown the "machine" into wildest panic when he predicted "Gen. Butler himself will be a prisoner before the bar unless he is careful."

Carney then dismissed eight prisoners who had been arrested on charges of possessing liquor.

"The law of this state says it is a crime to have liquor for sale. There has been no proof of sale in these cases. If the law is wrong that isn't up to Gen Butler. All he has to do is to obey the law himself."

Carney's attack came almost at the "zero hour"—3:30 o'clock—at which time Gen. Butler had ordered that "the city be absolutely clean."

Gen. Butler refused comment. "I've got work to do and not politics to play," he said. He announced he had sharpened the official axe and that at the appointed hour he would "bust" six or more police lieutenants who, he charged, had lied to him.

These officers reported to Gen. Butler that their vice district were cleaned up.

"No district in Philadelphia has been cleaned up. I don't expect the men to do the impossible," Butler said. "All I have asked is that police try—keep raiding. I am satisfied with the lieutenants and police who have tried, even though their districts are not lily pure.

"I will appoint a number of new lieutenants of police today and give them 48 hours to do the work allotted.

"If they fail I will remove them, appointing others.

"Philadelphia will have a 48-hour vice and crime drive every two weeks."

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY HEARS REPORT OF MOST SUCCESSFUL FAIR; VOTE MR. CALLAHAN, MANAGER, THEIR THANKS, DISCUSS FARM PROGRAM FOR NEW YEAR

County Agent Sterrett Tells the Assemblage That Action On Tubercular Cattle In County Is Now Imperative.

MANY TOPICS DISCUSSED

The annual meeting of the Clearfield County Agricultural Society held in the arbitration room of the Court House yesterday was attended by quite a number of the leading farmers of the county, together with local business men and others interested in the success of the society.

The meeting was called to order by President Harrison Straw, of Goshen, at 10:30 o'clock. He reported on the activities of the society for the past year, after which reports were made in turn by Secretary Chas. Callahan, manager of the Fair; Treasurer James A. McPherson, of Lawrence, and Peter Gearhart, of Lawrence, chairman of the executive committee. The report of the treasurer showed a healthy state of finances.

At the conclusion of the reports President Straw appointed Messrs. W. P. Trostle, W. C. Sterrett, of Clearfield, and G. B. Wachob, of Luthersburg, a committee on resolutions and adjournment was then taken for dinner.

The Afternoon Session.

Promptly at 1:30 in the afternoon President Straw again called the meeting to order and announced that the first business of the afternoon session was the election of officers. This was immediately taken up and the following officers were chosen to guide the Agricultural Society during the coming year:

President—Harrison Straw, of Goshen.

Vice President—John C Forsyth, of Clearfield.

Secretary and Fair Manager.—Charles Callahan, of Clearfield

Treasurer—James A. McPherson, of Lawrence.

Executive Committee (two to elect) —Curtis Reed, of Lawrence, and W. E. Davis, of Clearfield.

Member Fair Committee—G B Wachob, of Brady.

The Fair Committee is made up of five members, one of which represents the County Agricultural Society, and one each from Pomona Grange, the Business Men's, Bankers' and Mercantile Associations of Clearfield.

Peter Gearhart moved that the Executive Committee be directed to invest from $3,000 to $5,000 of the surplus funds in the society treasury in Park bonds or other good securities. This was amended by John Forsyth to read "all the funds available" County Farm Agent Sterrett seconded the motion which was unanimously adopted and the funds will likely be invested in Government certificates which are more liquid and easier con-

CLEVELAND SCHOOL GIRL DISAPPEARS ON WAY TO SCHOOL AT TITUSVILLE, PA.

Police of Oil City Are Trying to Trace Car Which Woman Asserts Carried Unwilling Girl.

ONLY 15 YEARS OLD

Pittsburgh, Jan. 10 (INS)—Police here today were preparing to institute a state wide search for Wilma Owen, 15, of Cleveland, believed to have been kidnapped while on her way to Titusville, Pa., where she is a student in St. Joseph's Academy. Police traced the girl to the East Liberty station here where she was to have taken a train to Titusville but there the trail ended. She did not arrive at her destination.

Clue at Oil City

Oil City, Pa., Jan. 10. (INS.)—Police here today were attempting to trace the automobile from which an unidentified girl called for help as it stopped momentarily in Rouseville, a suburb, yesterday, in the belief that it may lead to a solution of the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Wilma Owen, of Cleveland, while on her way from her home to St. Joseph's academy, Titusville, Pa., where she was a student, and possibly that of Marie Domabrea, of 7 Foundry street, Pittsburh and Mrs. Violet Clark, of 607 Lowell street, Pittsburgh.

The Cleveland girl was due in Titusville Monday, but nothing has been heard from her since her family received a telegram purporting to have come from her and saying she had taken the wrong train from the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania railroad which she was to have changed.

The mystery automobile, which bore a 1922 Pennsylvania license, stopped in Rouseville while its driver read some road sign posts. While it was stopped, a girl, who with two men, was a passenger, suddenly leaned over the side and cried out to Mrs. Clarence Lepley, who was standing nearby:

"Oh, lady. Please get someone to take me from this car."

She had hardly finished speaking when the driver grabbed the girl and pulled her back into the machine while the other man, attempted to gag her with his hand. While the struggle was going on the machine break rooms and conference rooms it is conceded.

Concealed Mellon

Must Be Compromise

As a result of the developments during the week that Congress has been back from the holidays, the consensus of opinion among Republicans, Democrats and Insurgents today was that as finally adopted the tax reduction will represent a compromise between the Mellon plan and the Democratic plan—particularly with respect to the surtaxes on large incomes.

Secretary Mellon proposed these surtaxes be reduced from 50 per cent to 25 per cent. The Democrats proposed 44 per cent. The LaFollette insurgents want 65 per cent. As matters stood today it appeared probable to both Democratic and Republican leaders that a compromise between 25 per cent and 44 per cent is the most likely solution and the suggested figure is 40 per cent.

While the Republicans are in nominal control of the situation actually the Democrats are more powerful than the Republicans for the reason that the Democratic plan of heavy reductions on small incomes and only slight reduction on the so-called "millionaire incomes" more nearly coincides with what the Insurgents want. The Democratic plan has been shrewdly drawn with just that object in mind.

How confident the Democrats and insurgents are of their power may be gauged from the fact that they are now privately discussing the possibilities of passing a tax reduction measure over a possible veto from President Coolidge.

President Coolidge's "unalterable opposition" to tinkering with the Mellon rates, announced at the White House, carried with it the inference he might veto a tax bill that strayed too far from the principles laid down by the Secretary of the Treasury. It is this inference that has resulted in the present talk between Democrats and insurgents of the possibilities of jamming through a tax measure over a possible veto.

Should such a situation arise, it would admittedly create political chaos. The political effect of a Republican President running for reelection vetoing a tax reduction measure for which the whole nation yearns might be fantastic. It is a juicy morsel for the Democrats to chew over in contemplation.

Bonus Crowding

Meanwhile the war in the House as to whether taxation or a soldier's bonus shall have the right of way continued unceasingly today.

A show down will come tonight in a Republican conference when the proposition will be voted upon. Administration leaders are confident they have enough votes to defeat the bonus advocates, but their claims are not conceded by the bonus lieutenants.

Non-partisan observers, however, believe the administration forces will be successful and instruct the Ways and Means Committee to go ahead with the tax legislation.

The bonus advocates admittedly have lost ground during the week Congress has been back on the job. When Congress adjourned for the holidays, even administration leaders admitted there was little possibility of side tracking the bonus. Today, however, it appeared the bonus will be delayed.

Bonus leaders attribute their lost ground to the veritable deluge of letters and telegrams, which have been descending upon Congress for a month demanding quick action on tax reduction.

Most of these letters have been from Chamber of Commerce, Bankers Associations, manufacturers organizations, real estate boards, and other societies indentified with business interests and so great has been their numbers that they have made a distinct impression upon all members of the House, who come up for re-election in November.

"It was not a partisan question to us, but one of railroad policy. Senator Smith stands with us on that policy. We tried for five weeks to reach a compromise with the old guard leadership but they refused even to discuss the question with us.

When they persisted in refusing to call a party conference we gave our support to a progressive Democrat to end the deadlock and start victory for Progressives."

Smith Has Experience

Senator Smith, who was the first member of the Senate minority ever to be elected chairman of a Major committee, announced this morning he would issue a statement of policy later.

"I want the country to know," he said, "That this honor was confered on me wholly without my seeking. I have been chairman of this committee before but that was when the Democrats were in the majority. I am ready, however, to shoulder the task again."

By unanimous vote this afternoon, the Senate reaffirmed Cummins' committee. The question has been raised by Senator Dill, Democrat, of Washington, that his defeat for the chairmanship removed him from the committee. Both Republican and Democratic leaders, however, agreed Cummins retain the membership and the Senate formally acquiesced.

Butler Raids And Rayes

ler, Philadelphia's new director of public safety, marshalled his forces for a final drive in his war on vice and crime.

"Have Philadelphia cleaned up by 3:30 o'clock this afternoon or hand me your resignation," he informed each police district lieutenant over the telephone.

General Butler estimated 80 per cent of the vice, which he declared "ran rampant in every section of the city," had been driven to cover.

To "get" the remaining twenty per cent, he planned:

1. To stage daily raids on known saloons.
2. Arrest all police characters on sight, daily if necessary.
3. "Bust" every lieutenant, captain and sergeant in whose police district he discovers the "lid ajar."

Gen. Butler today estimated between 5,000 and 6,000 men and women, all law violators, and the majority of them known violators of the law, had left the city during the past 48 hours.

"I know I can't make Philadelphia absolutely clean — reformers have tried to do that before," Gen. Butler declared. "But I can make the city a place fit to live in Right now it Stinks to high heaven."

Yesterday's Record

Police reports submitted to Gen. Butler today revealed that all criminals had not fled the city.

Yesterday, the marine-policeman's first day of real action was marked by thirty robberies, three holdups, and an attempt made to loot a government liquor warehouse. The robbers secured more than $5,000.

The majority of the robberies were staged while Gen. Butler visited outlying police stations last night, and while his raiding squads hunted for speakeasies and gambling games.

Robert and Miss Lily Leavy attended the funeral of Frank Davis, of Altoona, which was held at Ebensburg, Pa., today.

Recently the Mr. George was asked by an interviewer: "What is your favorite amusement?" The novelist replied: "Loafing about a great city between midnight and dawn." His reason he gave as follows: "At night it is the unexpected happens. The few people about you intrigue you in bed; others it may be for some unusual cause: love, purpose of crime, agents of the Intelligence, or black perverts. Lonely under the stars, these people, for company, they willingly confide in you; and every outlet you in their confidence." Then Mr. H. L. George has attended exhibitions of sights in London, Paris, Barcelona, New York, Chicago, etc. He has participated in several exciting adventures, which he relates here, altering the names and details for the sake of his strange companions of the night. Those of these adventures actually happened to him. George; three are slightly expanded. They make up the picture of darkness and passion which stands behind the face of every great city, and represents a hidden world into which the daring can penetrate.

THE SHOT IN THE NIGHT

I

I DO not, as a rule, seek nocturnal adventure in the suburbs. There is about the suburbs something too well established, too respectable, for one to be able to hope to come across easily upon those torrid mysteries which entangle human beings so readily in the coils of avarice or love. Then, when one fine September night I was slowly walking back toward London from Woolwich I felt the flags stood on plastered jars, in each of which grew a massive bush of chrysanthemums. I could not perceive details, but I guessed that the lawns were well-kept; the distance between the house and its two neighbors showed that it stood in extensive grounds. Here again, I thought, as I leant over the low wall which separated the garden from the street, here again wealth, and a life where nothing happens.

At that moment, as I leaned at one

disheartened and disappointed. In Industrial Woolwich I had encountered only two men too drunk to find their way home, and made most unpleasant by that fact. Otherwise, the whole town so deserted that I felt lonesome, and instead of waiting for the first workmen's train, made toward Shooter's Hill. It was about half-past five, and as summer time had been duly put away with, it was still dark. There was a hint of thunder in the air. Thus, as I passed through the quiet streets, along their tidy pavements, and cast a negligent eye at shuttered houses, I could not help thinking that among these [illegible] must be [illegible] an ambitious boy, a love-lorn girl, feeling disturbance, the painful electricity of the air. If only one could see through walls! I stood for a moment looking over the garden gate of a house where the front garden was filled with a plantation of flaunting dahlias that shone white in the darkness. No, nothing. Nothing there but wealth, of at least comfort and ease. In silence I went on. The street endlessly wound on its way. Garden after garden, comfortable houses, one after the other. At last, dispirited and very tired, I stopped for a moment to rest against the gatepost of a long, low house, built perhaps a hundred years ago. Its architecture interested me, for it had only one floor. It was one of those old country houses George III perhaps, which London has absorbed as it ate up the fields. The front was covered with white stucco, and tall French windows led into the garden, a portion of which was flagged. Upon one of the French windows, I realized first that here burned a light. It was faint, because it had to struggle round thick curtains. Half-past five! Someone awake? Curious. Lights in the night always interest one; social life, love, sickness, death, all these call lights into the windows. I stared at it for a moment. Then, just as I was about to pass on, I started, leaping away from the wall and coming back; the sound of a revolver shot had impressed my ears. And though I had seen no flash, I knew with the absolute certainty of in the room where the light still faintly flowed.

I listened acutely for nearly a minute. Groans, the sound of a struggle, another shot, any of these would confirm what I had discovered. But there was nothing, nothing but silence. In the far distance I heard the horn of a motor-car, which sounded loud and near, so taut were my nerves. But nothing came, and still I stared at that window. What had happened there? Who there lay dead? The fact was such a shock to me that for a moment I proposed to find a policeman as quickly as I might. Then I felt ashamed: it is a poor adventure of the night draws the commonplace police into the extraordinary.

So, looking about me, and finding myself unobserved, I lifted the latch of the gate; tiptoed up the flagged walk, where my feet, trampling the gravel, seemed to make the noise of a machine gun. A broad lawn lay before the window; for a moment, standing at the side, I tried to see in between the curtains. But I could

The property of a man of Harvard turned loose on North Mountain near Boston, Pa., about three years ago have made an ever-lasting friend in a miller near Orangeville. The animals have kept the mill dam in repair after the owner had tried in vain to prevent it from leaking.

They are one of three colonies which have sprung from the original pair brought into the community by by the Board of Game Commissioners as a step to restock the state with our species of several which had been exterminated. The animals were imported from Canada, the first pair being taken into Potter county in 1916. Since others have been placed in Lycoming, Union, Centre, Mifflin, Perry, Dauphin, Carbon, Bucks and Westmoreland counties. It now is estimated there are more than twenty colonies scattered through these counties and in some instances they have moved fifteen miles distant from the mother colony.

It has been pointed out that in the mountain regions they have done much to conserve water through the building of dams. At the same time the animals have not proven destructive, according to the game authorities, who declare they confine their activities almost solely to the felling of aspen, birch and elder trees, rather than those of greater value.

Here is a real sermon on one hundred per cent optimism which should be ready by all those who are constantly "pitying" themselves by daily reciting their "many" ills and the "burdensome crosses" they are obliged to bear:—

Miss Kathryne Mae Frick, of Harrisburg, the ever-smiling and happy deaf and blind ward of the state at the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf, in Mount Airy, from which institution she will graduate before long, gave an exhibition recently of one of her many accomplishments after discoursing with her teacher on the subject of Christmas and early history of her life, by composing the following on her typewriter, the subject being "The Fairies of Sense":

"When I was a little girl, after I lost my sight and hearing, the Fairies of Sense came to me one day to give me a power that would take the place of my eyes and ears. They gave me the powerful senses of smell, taste and touch. The Fairy of Light placed me in a dark room and pierced all of my fingers deeply and both of my palms, so that my hands would take the place of my eyes. Thus I obtained the power to use my fingers and palms to receive messages instead of my eyes. The Fairy of Sound took me into a place of music and pierced my fingers deeply just as the Fairy of Light had done, and gave me the power of the sound of my voice. Next I felt the sweet fragrance in a wealth of the color of this great nation. The Fairy of Touch gathered a few twigs and branches of the Tree of Truth and put them in a basket of water to take back to be kept longer, and also returned them to me. Now my sense of touch is much richer than before. The Fairy of Smell fetched me with its fragrant fruit and made my sense of smell more sensitive. The Fairy of Taste gave me a strange golden apple containing the different kinds of taste that we knew and told me to eat it slowly. For this reason the Fairies of Sense made me happy, but before they disappeared they came together and told me that they had given me their powers to learn about God's beautiful world and about Him."

W. Harry Baker Charged With Operating His Car In A Reckless Manner

Philadelphia, Jan. 10. (INS.)—W. Harry Baker, chairman of the Republican state committee, was to be given a hearing today on a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested early today when his automobile crashed into a milk wagon. Baker was driving from his home in Harrisburg. A misunderstanding between the drivers of both vehicles is believed to have been responsible for the crash.

Ashland Cattle, driver of the milk wagon, sustained bruises, hundreds of milk bottles were broken and a wheel of the wagon knocked off.

The annual banquet of the Woman's Club was held in the dining room of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening, January 8. Covers were laid for 112 members and guests. The tables were beautifully decorated with baskets of pink and white carnations.

The following menu was prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid Society:

Fruit Cocktail

Olives Celery

Lettuce Heart and Mayonnaise

Roast Chicken with Filling

Mashed Potatoes Peas

Cranberry Jelly

Ice Cream Cakes Nuts

Coffee

Following the banquet the president, Mrs. Kurtz, gave a short talk on the growth of the club, the need of a club room and the principal work outlined for the coming year.

Mrs. Wright Hafer very ably read a most interesting story written by Dorothy Canfield entitled "What Goes Up." The story gives a vivid picture of what the French women endured during the war.

This was followed by a special entertainment given by the "Famous Country Cousins," delightfully humorous and entertaining and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Mince Pie for Yule in 1596.

Mince pies were popular at Christmas time as early as 1596 under the name of "mutton pies." Later "neat's-tongues" were substituted for the mutton.

KILL THAT COLD

FIGHT WINTER ILLS

Guard Against "Flu" or Pneumonia

I am near 60 years, but I feel as young as I did at 30. I take a cupfull of Bulgarian Tea once or twice a week. It keeps me healthy and strong and makes me feel young again," said H. H. Von Schlick, manufacturer of Bulgarian Herb Tea.

To break up a bad cold you must take a cupful hot at bedtime. Bad colds often turn into Influenza or Pneumonia and thousands die every year. This Bulgarian Tea will do for you what it has done and is doing today for millions of people. It will keep your system in perfect physical condition. Get a box from your druggist today.

The national building outlook for the year, according to builders in various cities, is good. The demand for homes, office buildings and other structures continues as great as ever, and it may be years before the "saturation point" is reached. No unusual boom is expected, but the country will probably absorb all the building materials and labor available, at prices somewhere around those of last year. There is ample money for financing, in most sections.

"Negotiations with the trades unions have started," reports a representative of the builders in a typical city, "and there was never a time when labor leaders showed more tendency to co-operation. There will be no serious tie-up, because labor doesn't want a fight any more than we do."

He adds, however: "Production remains our big problem. What shall it profit a contractor to hire all the labor in the world, if it fails to work?"

It is the view of builders generally that this is the big drag on the industry at present—workmen do not expect to do anywhere near as much work in a day as they used to, and as they could do without hardship, though they are better paid than ever before. This is the biggest factor in making building so costly. It keeps up rents and makes it harder for people generally—most of them workmen—to own their own homes.

A STIMULUS FOR PEACE TALK

Regardless of whether the peace plan which has won the Bok award wins also general public approval, it is serving an excellent purpose in focusing our attention again on the whole question of international peace, the Permanent Court of International Justice, the League of Nations and the attitude of the United States toward these things. There cannot be too much thought about these problems.

Everyone who has an opportunity ought to express his opinion about the particular peace plan in question. A genuine national referendum will result if newspaper ballots are used promptly.

Edward Bok's proposal of a reward for the best peace plan presented was laughed at a little at first and then, except for the many individuals who sent in plans, people forgot about it or became apathetic toward it. Now the fact that one plan has won its author the $100,000 award again centers interest in the matter. A wide-spread expression of opinion on the subject should be informing and useful.

At the conclusion of the reading of the report Manager Callahan was highly complimented and given a vote of thanks for the able manner in which he handled the business end of the big fair.

Will Have More Stock Exhibits.

After commenting at some length on the report of the fair, President Straw said there was just one place where last year's fair was lacking and that was in the matter of stock exhibits, which were away below the standard of preceding years, due to the fact that so many Clearfield county farmers did not care to go to the expense or trouble to bring their stock to the fair. He said the fair was intended primarily to give Clearfield county farmers opportunity to display their stock in competition with their neighbors for the purpose of stimulating cattle raisers to improve their herds, but as they did not seem to want to take full advantage of the situation he believed it would be well to rescind the rule and let the bars down to cattle from other counties of the state. He further said that exhibitors from many adjoining counties were clamoring to get their stock on exhibition at the fair and they should be given an opportunity to do so.

The question was then discussed by Peter Gearhart, T. L. Wall, G. B. Wachob and John Forsyth. Mr. Forsyth then moved that the bars be let down and stock raisers from other counties of the state be privileged to exhibit at Clearfield county fairs hereafter. The motion was seconded by Peter Gearhart and unanimously adopted.

Mr. Forsyth also moved that a committee of three be appointed to work with the Park Association in the erection of a dock for loading and unloading stock at the fair grounds, the cost to the society not to exceed $75. This was seconded by Peter Gearhart and unanimously agreed to.

Must Guard Against Tuberculosis.

At this point the committee on resolutions presented the following report:—

WHEREAS the Farm Bureau of Clearfield County has requested the State Bureau of Animal Industry to make a survey and test for tubercular cattle,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Agricultural Society of Clearfield County heartily endorse the action of the Farm Bureau of Clearfield County and request the State Bureau of Animal Industry of the State of Pennsylvania to co-operate with said Farm Bureau of Clearfield County.

RESOLVED FURTHER, that the Commissioners of Clearfield County be requested to go along with this movement in so far as they can to assist in financing the same in connection with other persons who have volunteered financial aid.

RESOLVED that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Board of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the State of Pennsylvania and a copy also be sent to the Commissioners of the County of Clearfield, Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS, the manager and committee of the County Fair during the past year handled the proposition in an entirely satisfactory, efficient and profitable manner,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Agricultural Society at their annual meeting assembled hereby tender a vote of thanks to Mr. Callahan and the said committee, and a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes.

W. P. TROSTLE,
W. C. STERRETT,
G. B. WACHOB.

County Farm Agent Urges Action.

County Farm Agent Sterrett was then given the floor and he called attention to the new idea of the Indiana County Agricultural Society in offering fair premiums for "ton litter" pigs and thought it might be a good thing for the Clearfield fair to adopt the idea.

Mr. Sterrett then took up the matter of the urgent need for Clearfield county farmers to get behind the movement to stamp out tuberculosis among the cattle and other live stock of the county. He said we were rapidly approaching the time when the tuberculin test will be required by law before any cattle could be sold and now was the time to get ready for that condition. He talked against the bringing of cattle into the county from New York state or the eastern section of Pennsylvania, where tuberculosis is much more prevalent than in the western part of the state. He said a survey shows that but about five per cent of the cattle in the western counties are affected by tuberculosis, whereas in the eastern section the disease prevails to the extent of from 25 to 50 per cent. Therefore it was to the great advantage of herd owners to keep the western half of the state clean. Mr. Sterrett stated both the federal and state governments would assist in this work, but that the present plan was inadequate and more effective measures should be provided and that at once. To this end the executive committee of the Farm Bureau had already expressed their willingness to go ahead with a movement designed to clean up the county. The plan they hope to operate under requires that before the county clean-up will be undertaken by the state department at Harrisburg, 90 per cent of the herd owners of the county must sign up for the test of their cattle. A herd owner is any man living outside of a town or city who owns one or more head of cattle. There are at present 12,500 head of cattle in the county, of which 464 react to the t. b. test.

The need for prompt action, Mr. Sterrett said, was due to the fact that the federal and state governments had provided a total of $31,000 for reimbursement to stock owners for cattle found to be suffering from tuberculosis and ordered killed. But just as soon as this fund was exhausted, and three counties had already signed up for the test, there would be nothing left to pay for cattle destroyed, though all affected would have to be destroyed.

In making the test under the plan now in vogue in the state, a force of 25 veterinarians is employed. Their salaries of $2,500 for time spent in testing Clearfield county cattle would also be paid by the state, while an additional $825 for disinfectant, $210 for tags and $200 for stationery, office, administration, etc., would also be required, and this sum it is expected would be appropriated under the law by the County Commissioners, leaving the burden of getting herd owners signed up and transportation of the veterinarians to the different sections up to the cattle owners themselves.

Mr. Sterrett spoke of the great advantages to be gained from a tuberculosis free herd, which could be estimated in dollars and cents at from $10 to $15 per animal, with the inestimable asset of increased health in families of farmers and milk users generally.

At the conclusion of the remarks of the County Farm Agent, G. B. Wachob, of Brady township, one of Clearfield county's most successful herd owners and stock raisers, expressed himself as heartily favoring Mr. Sterrett's plan as enunciated saying he heartily favored the idea of digging right in now when there was a chance to get paid for any cattle destroyed, when a little later, and when it had to be done by the law's direction, there would be no funds available and therefore no reimbursemen for cattle taken and destroyed by the state's agents.

Mr. Forsyth then moved that the Clearfield County Agricultural Society pledge its support and hearty co-operation to County Farm Agent Sterrett in putting on the tuberculin test in Clearfield county and urge that herd owners proceed at once to sign up in order that the test may be made very shortly and before the reimbursement fund should be exhausted. The motion was seconded by Curtis Read of Lawrence township, and unanimously passed.

The business of the meeting having been finished, adjournment was had.

From January 1, 1923, to January 8, 1924.

The following Report is respectfully submitted:

Number of cases in which I was consulted and in which no legal action was taken	289
Desertion and non-support cases in which warrants were issued:	28
Desertion and non-support cases settled without warrants	2
Non P. & S. cases	22
Unusually immoral cases	3
Guardianship appointments received	2
U. S Government allotment cases	2
Voluntary payments being made in desertion and non-support cases, without proceedings	4
Total number of cases	349

Of the twenty-six desertion and non-support cases, I had previous knowledge of but three of them and but fourteen were heard, the remaining twelve being settled by me after the warrant had been issued.

The small number of warrants of which I had previous knowledge is largely due to the counselling in my office and throughout the county.

It is well worth the time to look thru the text books shown at the exhibit of the International Correspondent Schools in the Powell Building on Second Street. More money has been invested in these text books than in any other text book ever published.

To teach successfully by mail, requires a different kind of text book from that used in class room work. Books that require a teacher to explain and elaborate them are of little value to those who study alone. I. C. S. text books begin at the beginning and proceed by easy stages. They take nothing for granted but the ability to read English. They are written by practical men with years of experience in the various lines they teach and have been edited by trained correspondence experts familiar with the difficulties the student meets when studying alone. Over 100 colleges and technical schools use I. C. S. text books for reference and for classroom instruction. Over 1000 industrial establishments and railroads have used them for years for their training classes.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mr. and Mrs. William Twigg, Bloomington avenue, announce the marriage of their eldest daughter, Esther Wilson Twigg to Joseph F. Bartell, the ceremony being performed in Philadelphia on Wednesday, Jan. 9th. The young couple wil be at home in Curwensville on February 1st.

Pike township supervisors must contemplate a busy summer season in road making. We were informed yesterday that three motor trucks were to be purchased for the purpose of doing away with team work on the roads. The township has a tractor and now combined with the new motor conveyances, good work all over the township ought to be done at a considerable lower rate than heretofore when teams and wagons were pressed into service.

Borough Council had a new ordinance drawn up by which slot machines and all manner of gambling devices and games get a black eye, if the new law is strickly put in force, and there is no reason under the canopy of sky why it should not be. There are pretty nearly a dozen slot machines being operated in Curwensville today, to say nothing of candy boards etc. It is said that young boys, under the prohibitory age of even entering a pool room, are permitted to gamble on these machines. The new ordinance covers all of these games of chance devices, but many are skeptical as to its enforcement.

Mrs. Mary Deitrich, who was operated on last Saturday has so far recovered as to be able to be brought home at the last of the week.

Don't Cross Nature.

In all that we do we should avoid going contrary to nature. Every man should study his own character and constitute himself a keen judge of his own merits and demerits.

Renova High were runners up for [illegible] title but were eliminated in the finals. They have the same combination again this year and intend winning the honor but realize that they will have to defeat Clearfield.

N. Y. C. TO BE TOLD CLEARFIELD WANTS

George E. Taylor, of Corning, N. Y.; Sam W. Claster, of Lock Haven, and Messrs. T. J. Arthurs, of Pittsburgh; Hon. Ben. F. Chase, U. S. Consul to Messina, Italy; T. F. Donovan, of Akron, Ohio; John Steinford, and Abe Shapiro, of Clearfield.

At the conclusion of the meeting Rotarian Taylor of Corning, offered the information that his chief, Supt. F. E. McCormick, of the Pennsylvania division, N. Y. C., expecting to spend the night in Clearfield, was in his private car at the local New York Central station, whereupon a committee composed of Messrs. A. M. Pearce, John Forsyth, Singleton Bell, Burgess Kittelberger, Louis Shapiro, and H. D. Healey went down to the car and interviewed Mr. McCormick on the question of the rebuilding of the N. Y. C. car shops. Mr. McCormick received the committee very graciously and said he was glad to be able to inform them that while there had been some "loose talk" regarding the future of car repairing in the local yards, he could assure them nothing definite had been determined thus far and whether no not the shops would be rebuilt or restored was a matter for the future and he would be glad to hear or entertain any proposition from the business men of Clearfield regarding the matter and would also be glad to pass it along to President Smith and the executive heads of the company with recommendation favorable to Clearfield. He stated that it would be well to get busy on the matter and the Civic Affairs Committee of both the Rotary and Commercial Clubs are already busy on the proposition and will make strenuous representations to the N. Y. C. people to have the shops rebuilt.

Care of Hides.

Only sound hides free from cuts on the flesh side, well taken off, of regular even pattern, properly salted and cured, can command a high price and make good leather. Greater care must be taken in summer than in winter in salting, curing and marketing hides, especially by the farmer or the country butcher who has only an occasional hide to cure. Partly decayed hides are practically useless.

3,000 Attend Organizing Session Of Association To Combat Ku Klux Klan

Monroe, La., Jan 10 (INS.)—The constitutional league of America, created for the avowed purpose of "combatting principles enunciated by the Ku Klux Klan and to teach the doctrine of Americanism as contained in the constitution of the United States," was organized here today by anti-Klan forces of Louisiana, and Arkansas. Other anti-Klan forces throughout the country later will be invited to join this body, officials stated.

The principal speaker of the bi-state convention was "igon" Jack Walton, deposed Governor of Oklahoma. Approximately 3,000 men attended the convention.

NERVOUS, RUN-DOWN MOTHERS

Worn Out Caring for Children and Housework—See how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"I was in a very nervous and run-down condition while nursing my baby, and hearing some talk of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began taking it. From the second bottle I noticed a big improvement, and I am still taking it. I am not a bit nervous now, and feel like a different person. It is a great medicine for any one in a nervous, run-down condition and I would be glad to give any one advice about taking it. I think there is no better medicine and give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. ANNA SMITH, 541 W. Norwood Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

The important thing about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is that it does help women suffering from the ailments common to their sex.

If you are nervous and run-down and have pains in your lower parts and in your back, remember that the Vegetable Compound has relieved other women having the same symptoms. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Here are Some Happy Hints for Chapped Hand and Face

The season of chapped hands and faces is here. Little Jack simply will not dry his hands thoroughly after you have made him scrub them; Mother upon the latter. Larger Sue is out of doors in all weathers and needs something to help those wind-bitten cheeks. Brother gets out on the windy days and finds her face getting rough.

But here are some things which will help you to avoid the conditions and if the conditions exist, will materially help to overcome them.

RICKARD, SPORT CHEF MIXING NEW VIANDS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Editor

New Yorg, Jan. 10.—A bout between Tom Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweigh, challenger and George Carpentier, the exotic Boulevardier was cooking merrily in the oven today as a result of a conference between Eddie Kane, Bibbons' manager and Tex Rickard. Over a low flame another fistic dish, involving Gibbons and Gene Tunney, American lightweight champion, was being kept warm against emergencies and for future use.

MAY BE ANOTHER ACTOR'S STRIKE

New York, Jan. 10 (INS.)—Rumbles of another theatrical strike which may darken the playhouses along Broadway this summer, were heard today when an unexpected hitch developed in negotiations between the Actors' Equity Association and the Producing Managers' Association.

The present contract of Equity, with its 10,000 members expires June 1.

NEW COLD WAVE, BUT NOT SEVERE, IS ON WAY HERE

Chicago, Jan. 10 (INS.)—A new cold wave sweeping down from the northwest was due to reach the Great Lakes today in its march east and south. Snow was scheduled to follow the drop in temperature.

The thermometer will not approach the marks set in the recent sub-zero spell, when 40 below was reached in northwestern states and the coldest weather in 12 years experienced in Chicago, but probably will reach zero tomorrow night here, it was said

Pittsburgh, Jan 10 (INS)—The [illegible] coming out of the north west will bring breezing temperatures to western Pennsylvania, by tomorrow night, officials at the U. S. Weather Bureau here said today. The cold weather probably will last over Saturday [illegible] believed the thermometer will go much below 32.

Georgia Congressman Demands Immediate Arrest Of Col Forbes

Washington, Jan 10 (INS)—Immediate arrest of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau, and such other officials of the Bureau as have been informally accused of wrong conduct of affairs during the affairs of the Bureau, was requested of Attorney General Daugherty today by Representative W. W. Larsen, Democrat, of Georgia.

The Georgia representative wrote a lengthy letter to Daugherty urging the issuance of warrants for all those "suspected" or involved in the recent disclosures concerning the Bureau's affairs.

Secessionist Leader And Aides Assassinated In Assault On Restaurant

Speyer, Germany, Jan. 10. (INS.)—The separatist government in the Rhineland palatinate today proclaimed a state of siege following an outbreak of shooting in a restaurant when four persons, including Heinz Orbis, leader of the secessionists, were killed, three other persons were wounded.

The assailants, all masked, drove up to the restaurant in an automobile. They entered and began firing in the direction of the table where Orbis was dining.

The men fired as fast as they could manipulate their weapons and soon men were falling to the floor, some dead, others only injured.

Immediately after the outbreak, the separatist regime began arresting prominent persons, holding them as hostages.

The French foreign office announced two days ago that several Germans had been arrested by French occupational troops in the Rhineland and confessed belonging to a secret ant separatists society in the Rhineland palatinate.

The Inter-Allied Council of Ambsadors was asked to investigate the activities of this society.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.
